

Membership details and lists using the new MemberMojo system

Introduction

With the new MemberMojo system, members can keep their own details up to date. As most club communication is now digital and default access to the membership system requires your email address, it is particularly important to ensure that your email address is kept up to date.

Unlike the previous paper listing of member details in the journal, member lists and details produced through the MemberMojo system are based on the current information held by the club.

Like the previous paper system, members can choose whether certain personal information, including address, phone numbers and email contact are visible to other members, or not. These can be changed through the details page.

Keeping your details up to date

Select the “Your Membership” bar on the top menu bar. That will give you the following screen:

Member Directory
 Lookup other member contact details.

Selecting the member directory produces a list of members. This can either be viewed as a list, or click on the “view as table button” to view in that way.

When viewing as a list, clicking on an individual entry will show the contact details for that person (subject to any GDPR preferences they have made).
